in what should we do peter levine explores how to organize individuals to act in concert how to talk and think well about contentious matters and how to address exclusion in the broadest available theory of civic engagement and civic life he analyzes the work of major thinkers including gandhi martin luther king jr jürgen habermas and elinor ostrom he also provides many practical examples of successful civic action and principles that are useful for real world civic action stephen m cherry draws upon a rich set of ethnographic and survey data collected over a six year period to explore the roles that catholicism and family play in shaping filipino american community life from the planning and construction of community centers to volunteering at health fairs or protesting against abortion this book illustrates the powerful ways these forces structure and animate not only how first generation filipino americans think and feel about their community but how they are compelled to engage it over issues deemed important to the sanctity of the family revealing more than intimate accounts of filipino american lives cherry offers a glimpse of the often hidden but vital relationship between religion and community in the lives of new immigrants and allows speculation on the broader impact of filipino immigration on the nation the filipino american community is the second largest immigrant community in the united states and the philippines is the second largest source of catholic immigration to this country this ground breaking study outlines how first generation filipino americans have the potential to reshape american catholicism and are already having an impact on american civic life through the engagement of their faith in the aftermath of the french revolution freedom came to have a host of meanings this volume examines these contested visions of freedom both inside and outside of revolutionary situations in the nineteenth century as each author explores and interprets the development of nineteenth century political culture in a particular national context the common focus is the struggle in various countries to define advance or delimit freedom after the french revolution the introductory chapter evokes the problematic relationships between reform and revolution and introduces themes that appear in subsequent chapters though each chapter is a free standing interpretive essay among the issues addressed are the growth of the public sphere and associational movements battles over constitutionalism parliamentary institutions and the franchise the role of the state in inhibiting or expanding citizenship and the rule of law the resort to violence by parties of order or parties of change and the intrusion of new social questions or ethnic conflicts into the political arena
